MARINE

(From Sunday's Advertiser.)

From Newport News to Honolulu, through the Straits of Magellan, without a stop or slow down is the creditable performance of the British S. S. Crown of Galicia which arrived here yesterday morning shortly after eight o'clock. She brings a cargo of 6100 tons of coal for the Navy, being docked at the Navy wharf. She will remain in port for probably eight to ten days discharging, when she clears for Auckland, New Zealand, to load for London. Her record from Newport News to Honolulu is fifty three days, a most creditable performance and one which Captain A. S. Halliday is not a little proud of.

The Crown of Galicia is making her first voyage in Pacific waters and this trip is the first experience of Captain Halliday, in the big ocean, although he has been in command of vessels in the West Indies trade for the past fifteen years. The vessel is a new one, having been commissioned only a year ago, and is a particularly fine craft. In her rigging she presents a sight most peculiar to those along the Honolulu waterfront, being fitted with twin masts fore and aft. A reference to the "starboard foremast" would have raised a smile anywhere along the waterfront before yesterday, but now such an expression will mean something.

The line to which the Crown of Galicia belongs is the West Indies Direct Line, all the several steamers of that company's fleet being in the West Indies trade until the demand for bottoms to transport navy coal and the prices being offered tempted the company into taking two coal charters, one for Honolulu and one for Mare Island.

Captain Halliday, who is a decidedly pleasant person to meet, brought with him a letter from the Secretary of Commerce and Labor to Port Collector Brown, instructing the collector to put no obstructions in the way of the British vessel in the discharging of her cargo, such as were interposed against the captain of the first British steamer which arrived with navy coal at San Francisco. As a result of the instructions so given the foreign vessel has been accorded almost the same privileges as are given vessels in the coastwise trade under the flag.

Almost the first person met by Captain Halliday after his vessel was docked was Walter Shields, of T. H. Davies & Co., with whom he had gone to school in Glasgow when the two were boys of thirteen. Since that time they have not met, but each knew the other yesterday and the friendship of their childhood days has been renewed.

When the British steamer was sighted yesterday morning by the lookout at Diamond Head, he reported the cableship Restorer, the mistake not having been discovered until the vessel was off the harbor.

With the exception of a few days off the Horn the vessel had good weather throughout the trip, everyone being well on board.

RESTORER ARRIVED.

The British cable ship Restorer, Captain Basil C. Combe, returned Sunday from Guam, after an absence of nearly two months. She sailed from here September 28 to locate and repair a break in the cable which had occurred September 20, and which had been located by electrical tests as being not far from this side of Guam. The Restorer was thirteen days going to Guam. The break in the cable was easily located, but typhoon weather and a little hard luck in losing one of the cable delayed the completion of repairs. The cable company announced in Honolulu on October 21, the completion of repairs. It was expected that orders would be given sending the Restorer to Nagasaki, and it was currently reported here that she had gone. She did not, however, but on November 9 sailed for Honolulu meeting nasty conditions all the way, and coming into the harbor looking like she had been buffeted heavily seas. She went to the Channel wharf. At Guam the station ship Supply was away.

WALLACH'S GIBES PLEASED TO ACHI

One of the most tickled men in Honolulu at the roasting that was handed out to Delegate Kalaniano'ole, and Senators Chillingworth and Lane on Saturday night from the platform in Aala park by J. Lor Wallach is Charley Achi. He was bubbling over with joy all day Sunday and yesterday at the way the female rock specialist rounded on the leaders of that wing of Republicanism which had taken the Wallach matter out of Nottley's hands and secured a favorable vote from the Board of Health.

Achi has taken no part in the Wallach mess. He says himself it is because it is a cardinal principle with him to studiously avoid bringing the question of leprosy into politics. Others of the politicians say Achi has taken no part because he wasn't asked to and because they wouldn't let him, but whatever the reason may be he has kept out.

"And what good have Cupid and Chillingworth and Lane and those fellows got out of it?" asked Achi yesterday. "Here they have been tagging around after Wallach and working him so that the Hawaiians will swing around to them, and now Wallach goes and dumps the whole bunch. You should have heard him Saturday night. It was great."

"For myself, I have never believed that Wallach could do any good, and I have never countenanced him. At no time have I ever made any such promises to the Hawaiians as Lane and Chillingworth have, telling them on the stump that they would go into the Legislature and vote to stop sending people to Molokai. I knew that such promises could not be kept and consequently I never asked for votes on such grounds. Whenever I propose something, some line of policy, I always see before I speak, that it is possible. Some of the things I have advocated have been the cause of blame being given me, but no one has ever said that I have promised to do anything that could not be done, like those fellows are doing."

In the meanwhile, in his own little circle, the Achi boom for Mayor is swirling and every day the labor leader sees himself nearer the goal of his great ambition. Three or four times a week meetings are held in his house among the faithful, called in great secrecy and attended by stealth, the mystery which surrounds them being necessary to get the boys in line for an organization of the Fifth. So far none of the enthusiasm for Achi has been allowed to escape the Fourth nor very far into the Fifth, being bottled up carefully around 884 North King street. Anyone who thinks that Achi agrees with the statements made that he is a has-been is reckoning without his host.

NO ALLIANCE WITH ACHI.

The report that the Chillingworth-Lane faction has made an overture of friendship to Achi, delegating John Wise to bear the olive branch, is denied indignantly by the members of that portion of the Republican party which gathers on Kaahumanu street.

"Ally ourselves with Achi?" said Chillingworth. "Never in a thousand years. We would rather be beaten with good men on our ticket than win by the help of the Achi crowd. We think it is time now for the young Hawaiians to put up their best men for office, men in whom the business element of the community can have confidence and whom they can support, not Hawaiians whose names are viewed with suspicion and in whose support we cannot expect the decent element to come."

"I am not running for anything at this election, but I am working to see that the Republican ticket is one for which we will have nothing to hide and of which we can truthfully say that it contains the names of good, trustworthy men."

DEMOCRATS RESTING EASY.

Whisperer Harry Mossman, of the Democratic party, smiles when the question of politics comes up. To save the party in the eyes of those who can be led by Wallachism he has taken an active share in the work of the Committee of Ten, siding in with the healer in the various rows that have developed. In this he has shown a great deal of strategy without showing his Democracy into the firing line. Otherwise he is keeping quiet.

"It is too early yet to fuss," he said. "It may be that those who are firing their big guns now will find themselves out of ammunition when the real scrimmage starts. We are quietly letting things go along. The Democrats in office are proving to the voters that all the brains and honesty do not belong to the Republicans and that the candidates we have put up and will put on the coming ticket are men in whose hands the government can be safely trusted. For a long while it was hard to convince the majority that a Democrat amounted to anything. Now they are seeing for themselves. I think that the work Sheriff Laukae and County Treasurer Trent are doing in going ahead and honestly and faithfully carrying on the work of their offices is the very best kind of campaign work the Democrats can do at this stage of the game. When things commence to happen I will let you know."

SUPERVISORS TOMORROW NIGHT.
In connection with the threatened row among the Supervisors over the chairmanship and the garbage department, it can be taken for granted that

LOCAL BREVITIES.

(From Saturday's Advertiser.)

H. Baggerley, one of the best known sporting writers on the Coast, is here in company with the Spalding baseball team, representing the San Francisco Bulletin. Mr. Baggerley will see that the claims of Hawaii as a sporting town are properly presented to the mainland readers of his paper and it is probable that he will write up other sports in Honolulu besides the All-Star games.

Attorney J. M. Vivas has been released under $100 bail at Walluku. He will be brought to Honolulu as soon as he is fit for travel, for the trial of his appeal from Judge McKay's sentence, through the writ or habeas corpus issued by Chief Justice Hartwell. During the first four days of his term of five days for contempt of court he was ill in hospital under guard. The hard labor part of his sentence was consequently folded.

Replying to a letter from a Honolulu acquaintance asking for his support to the application of W. F. Drake for the position of collector of inland revenue here, Senator Shelby M. Culom writes from Washington, Nov. 5, saying: "I have already recommended the appointment of Mr. Drake for the position of collector of Internal Revenue, and the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has written me that he will also recommend his appointment; so I do not apprehend there will be any trouble about the matter."

(From Sunday's Advertiser.)

A. Muir Wilson, a British consul in Serbia, is bound for Yokohama in the Mongolia.

Harry J. Johnston, custom house broker, returned in the Mongolia from San Francisco, where he was disappointed by the further postponement of the sake cases in the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Johnny Winters is the first of the Cheyenne cowboys to arrive here for the Wild West show on Dec. 14, he having arrived in the Mongolia. He is known in Wyoming as the "Boy Wonder of the Plains." Angus McPhee is expected in the Hilonian.

Attorney General Hemenway is quoted as saying nothing will be done against Wallach for practicing medicine without license until he has had a chance to work out his experiment agreed on between the Molokai committee of seven and the Board of Health.

Treasurer A. J. Campbell returned from Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell, in the Mongolia. Mr. Campbell has nothing new to relate about his securing approval of the 1907 bond issue, together with the exchange of the bonds for U. S. bonds by the purchaser, which has not been published by the Advertiser. He speaks highly of the assistance rendered to him by Secretary Garfield.

One Portuguese was killed and another had his leg broken in an accident on the Wailuku plantation railway Friday afternoon. John Vierra is the dead man and he leaves a widow and three young sons. Manuel Vivellos is the man who escaped with the bad injury mentioned. Four men were running a car loaded with stone down a grade, when the car got beyond control and jumped off the end of a bridge. Two of the men saved life and limb by jumping off in time.

Sounds of footsteps at night from the attic of the Wailuku courthouse have caused a ghost sensation in that town. The engagement of Ant. Tavares of Wailuku, Maui, to Carrie Enos Cordeiro of Honolulu is announced. Date of wedding has as yet not been mentioned.

J. H. Fisher has received a new commission as Auditor, and W. E. Wall as Surveyor of the Territory, their respective terms of office having expired yesterday.

Judge De Bolt dismissed the appeal of W. W. Ahana from judgment by the District Magistrate of Honolulu for $153.17 against him and in favor of Harry T. Mills.

Despite the return, disappointed of fortune, of Portuguese and Spaniards from the Coast in the Alameda last Friday, it is said a number of Portuguese will leave in the same steamer tomorrow for the golden strand.

Acting Governor E. A. Mott-Smith has been compelled to defer his visit to Laupahoehoe in connection with the expiring lease of public lands there. T. Olive Davies, representing the Laupahoehoe Sugar Co., was to have been met by Mr. Mott-Smith at the place but was obliged to return to Honolulu.

Wm. McDougall of Kohala brought a $10 gold piece to town, which he supposed was a product of the Korean Mint of Hawaii. It proved on testing, however, to be genuine American coin, but with a crack in it that gave an impediment to its ring. Mr. is therefore a thousand hawbees richer than he had thought.

The matter is over for the time being. The startling way in which the hands of the schemers were tipped by the Advertiser disconcerted and discouraged them. The famous resolution of Achi's was ready for the past two meetings, but will not now be produced.

The appointment of the road supervisor for Koolauloa can be counted upon to furnish some excitement and will probably be used as a test to let the members know exactly how they are lining up. Kealoa can be depended upon to put up a fight for the patronage of his own district, which Dwight wants to take away from him. The question of the payment of back pay to A. M. Brown may be sprung, with the probability that the proposal will be voted down.

Altogether tomorrow's meeting promises to be interesting.

THE MAUI JUDGE FOUND IN ERROR

A unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court reverses the judgment of the Second Circuit Court (Judge Kopolahi) in the action to quiet title to three pieces of land in Lahaina, Maui, brought by Lahaina Agricultural Co., Ltd., against A. Paaba and seven others. Plaintiff appealed by writ of error from the ruling of the court below in dismissing the action and the appellate court finds the ruling erroneous, its statement of the law being as follows:

"In an action to quiet title to three contiguous pieces of land against eight defendants, where one defendant answered by claiming one of the pieces and disclaiming as to the other two, and five other defendants by disclaiming as to one and claiming the other two, the granting of a motion to dismiss the action for misjoinder of parties defendant and causes of action is erroneous."

The judgment is reversed and the case remanded for further proceedings consistent with this opinion. Kinney & Marx for plaintiff; C. W. Ashford for defendants.
